Meetings are on hold.

The BWA Spring Clinic

The clinic is canceled

The BWA spring clinic has been officially cancelled. In this time, I feel that it is unconscionable for us to continue to hold onto student's registration fees for an event that we cannot responsibly reschedule. Once the current crisis has passed and gathering in large groups/having close physical contact is warranted again, we will re-evaluate our situation. We may at that time hold a summer or fall clinic, or simply plan several of one-day events oriented toward beginners. Until then, stay safe, be good to each other, and keep an ear to the ground for the next things coming from the BWA.

Hanley Loller BWA Vice-President

The BWA wishes to thank Canoe Kentucky for its support. We urge you to patronize them for your outdoor needs.

About the BWA's Bowlines

The Bowlines has been a unique record of the BWA and its members. Unique in that it has been more than a listing of club activities and general information about paddling and related issues. When you read Bowlines you read about each of us and what we thought and did over the years. Members have contributed articles not only about paddling, conservation, and the club, but also stories crafted with humor, imagination, and the spirit of enthusiasm of life and enjoyment of each other. These are only a small portion of the many articles worth rereading. There have been songs, poems, soap operas, jokes, cartoons, wedding announcements, birth announcements, and unique trip reports among all the issues. Not what you might think you would see in a whitewater club newsletter.

We owe a thank you to all the newsletter editors that spent countless hours preparing each issue. To all you club members a big BWA hand for your contributions. Please keep it up! Now dig in and enjoy old memories or chuckle at the amusing stories, poems and pictures...

NPFF 2020... yet another great one!

The National Paddling Film Festival occurred February 21-23 and as a great success. Hosted by the BWA, the NPFF is a grass roots festival geared toward raising funds for American Whitewater and other river conservation / paddle sport promoting organizations. This event has been happening for about 38 years and was the first of its kind. Over it's lifetime, the NPFF has donated over $175,000 to these organizations and we have gotten to meet (and party with) some amazing people. And it was that grass roots feeling that made it a success again this year. Thank you to EVERYONE that volunteered. I have to say that I am so very proud of the outpour of volunteers.

This year, we raised approximately $14,000 gross and 10,000 net. Proceeds from the National Paddling Film Festival will benefit American Whitewater, The Balkan River Fund, First Descents and PTSD Veteran Athletes.

Our Speakers this year were Adrienne Levkenct, Travis Overstreet, II and Nouria Newman. Each of them did a fantastic presentation and I feel so lucky to have gotten to meet them! Sunday, February 23rd, we added a "Paddle with the Pros" event at the Frankfort YMCA. Private Lessons with Nouria Newman and Travis Overstreet were raffled off for this and it was a very fun experience! I hope, next year to make more folks aware these private lessons are being raffled.

I would like to send a huge shout out to the NPF Team that made this festival a success! This is in no particular order.

2020 NPF TEAM

1. Sarah Leach-Assistant Director and Silent Auction Solicitor Extraordinaire.
2. Robert Watts- BWA EI-Presidente and Partner in Crime to Sarah Leach.
3. Kyle and Jansen Koeberlein- As the BWA Treasurer, Kyle had to help me set up bank account forms and provide lots of documentation regarding Tax Exempt status of the BWA for the NPF. And he listened to me rant about the new application process for alcohol licenses and new CBI numbers required of the State! Whew! Then he and Jansen provided free portraits for attendees of the Festival. That was way cool.
- 4) Bob Larkin- Mentor on many issues ranging from T-shirt Design to the legal procurement of Alcohol.
5. Brian Storz- His Excellency the Emcee Storzee. Brian was a total rock and support on set up, placement of vendors, event timing/flow. He even volunteered to help solicit for the Silent Auction.
6. Dave Foreman- Dave for the Save! Could not have done this with out him! His willingness to help in all areas of the event was priceless. From transporting TVs to running wiring, if it needed done, he was all in!
7. Angela Dade Graham- The Social Media Maestro! If it was posted on Facebook or Instagram, Angela put it there. It took many hours of searching photos, coming up with bylines, posting and asking photography permissions for her to make all of that happen. Her set up for voting at the Film Festival was just beautiful and I'm so proud of her for her hard work!

8) Ben Mudd- 2019 Director of the NPFF, Ben had a LOT of valuable input for development of the program and Website Navigation / updating. When Ben inherited the NPFF in 2019, he had only a couple of months to get it done. And he DID. So proud of his accomplishment last year and for paying it forward this year.

9. Michael Williams- Between Michael Williams, Ben Mudd and Hanley Loller, the Website for the NPFF somehow “happened”. These guys are my heroes!!!! I can’t stress “enough” how much work they put into it. Add to it that Michael and Sandra Broadus had a little “film recruitment party” at their house and...Well...I’m sure it was something for the books!

10. Hanley Loller- Volunteer Wrangler and all-around great guy! Savvy web support, fixer of email errors and wisdom beyond his years, it was Hanley and Michael at the Christmas Party the finally fixed the mysteries of our website. The moment is forever etched in my memory.

11. Michael Daugherty- King of the Roadshow! Until this year, I had no idea that we even “had” a Roadshow. What is a Roadshow, you ask? It’s a service where either we bring the film festival to your event or you rent films from “us” for your own event. This is pretty cool. You would be surprised how many other festivals approach the NPFF to rent films for their own festivals. Before I event took the position of NPFF Director, Michael was handling contracts, emails, payments, etc. He really makes it happen, but no one really gets to see it. He did an AMAZING job.

12. Terry Brunjes- The Keeper of the Books. I hope we did ok giving her all the receipts to track to keep us out of trouble....lol

13. Adelessa Grace: Queen of Chili Cook Off!

14. Ed and Tracy Singleton and the ENTIRE Singleton Clan! Calmers of the Storm that is ALL things Silent Auction! This requires almost super-human coordination and effort. And, the Singletons handled it with poise and professionalism. Ed also worked with Brian Storz to establish the Vendor Floor Plan and planned the Sam Singleton Race Booth with Rope throwing games. On top of THAT, Ed pretty much recruited and negotiated for Tacoee to provide food for us on Saturday night. There is more...

15. Daniel Durick: “This is how we do it” Durick. Daniel ran the sound for the event and made our playlist and interludes flow. Without him, I would have been a Dead Mama Duck in the water. For someone so quiet, he was responsible for a LOT of decibels.

16. Bethany Overfield: Saint Bethany was the Director for the NPFF for several years. In fact, AW liked what she was doing so much, they recruited her. She is deserving of Sainthood, in my opinion. She made sure we had what we needed for Gauleyfest, had passes for volunteers, made sure we had our full-page ad in AW Magazine. She really helped guide me through this process that is the National Paddling Film Festival.

17. Don Perkins: Marketing Aficionado! Don was so very patient with me working up the full-page ad for AW magazine.

18. Penny Kephart: Penny did our Flyers and posters for the event this year and they were gorgeous! I hope we get them to you earlier this year!

19. Karen Payne Gill: Sweet-stuff Coordinator was in charge of our Bake off!

20. Clay Warren: General support and ideas for speakers.

21. David Leachman: Judge of Judges. David arranged judging and scoring events of all submitted films.

22. Barry Grimes: Keeper of the Gate. Barry was instrumental in establishing the National Paddling Films Festival from its inception. His dedication and commitment to the event is invaluable. To this day, he maintains an archive of all films submitted to the NPFF. He receives films, contacts film makers, catalogs them and makes them available in a format they can be easily shared for judging.

23. Emily Grimes and Gus: Host and Hostess for NPFF Judging Party.

Thanks to everyone for showing up to support American Whitewater and river conservation!

You all ROCK!

Remembering the start of the National Paddling Film Festival

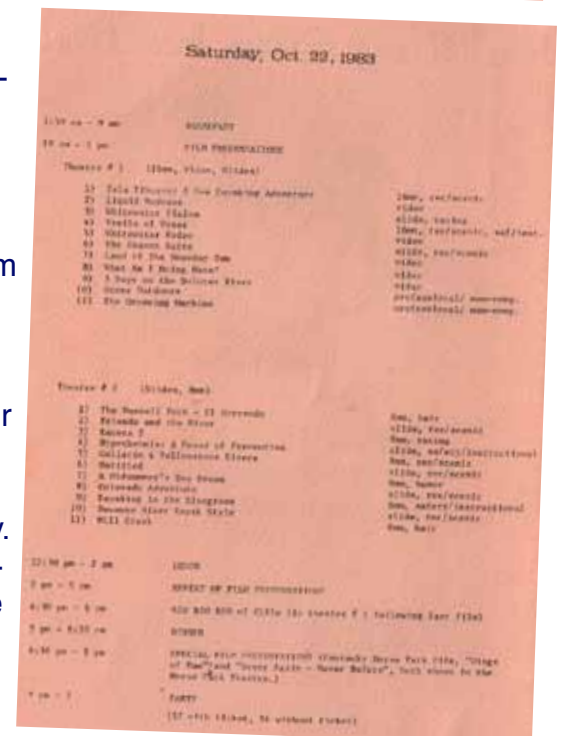

To understand the genesis of the BWA's film festival you need to know about living in the seventies and early eighties. The club was formed because of a small group of outdoor enthusiasts in Lexington had started paddling (mostly canoes) together because of an outfitter: Sage, School of the outdoors. Most of them either bought gear there or taught some the classes it offered. Sage not only sold boats and other outdoor gear, but also taught outdoor skills including paddling whitewater. Sage was formed around the same time as the Natahala Outdoor Center opened in 1972, but a couple of years later as I recall. Sage became the local center for paddlers, every thing you needed for paddling was there.

Learning how to paddle whitewater from Sage and then needing to do it as a group for safety led to the forming of the Bluegrass Wildwater Association in 1976. It worked out well for both Sage and the BWA. Sage sold the gear we needed to paddle with and as it's customers, students and associates we bought that gear and took "Aqua" classes and trips with Sage. Better gear was becoming available that made whitewater paddling easier and more fun. For example, ABS or Royalex Plastic (outer layers of vinyl, ABS with an ABS foam core) had just started to be used for making canoes. It was very durable, maintenance free & made a more affordable boat compared to fiberglass.

There were few books or films (video back then was exclusively used in the TV stations which also still relied heavily on film for programs. What few paddling films that existed were either 16mm or amateur 8mm or super 8mm.

Bob Sehlinger, the former head instructor at Sage came to me with the idea to have an annual film festival to encourage amateur & pro films about paddling. I thought it was a great idea, especially when he said his company "Menasha Ridge Press" would cover the costs of the festival until the festival was making money. I was BWA president at the time and talked it over with my predecessor president, Sam Moore, and we decided to advocate to the club that we do it. The BWA voted yes and so I became the first NPFF director and the rest is history.

We were a small club at the time and all we thought about was paddling, so I knew everyone would pitch in to make the festival happen. That fall we held our first festival in a barn at the new Horse Park in October of 1983. We set up two theaters in the barn and we also provided meals as there was no place eat close by.

We made no money that year or for a while. In fact it was not until 1987 that we made any money, and it was just 500.00. There was no festival in 1984 as we decided to move the festival from October to February, but true to his word, Bob supported us to the tune of several thousand dollars.

The result was that in the early years many in the BWA made entries, using both 8mm and slides.

In 2001 Apple had come out with i-movie on the Mac. we got Apple to participate in having a Apple Digital Video Editing workshop and seminar at he NPF. They provided computers and instruction on making a short paddling video and those that did got gift certificates at the UK ComputerStore.

It was not long before we would be amazed at the imagination and quality of the entries that would be improved year after year, both amateur, novice and pro in all the categories! Now there are a lot of paddling videos you can buy or watch on You Tube. I like to think that a young eager and vigorous paddling club called the Bluegrass Wildwater Association had a part in that happening.

Don Spangler

REPORT ON THE 1983 NATIONAL PADDLING FILM FESTIVAL

The BWA has done it again. We pooled the many talents in our club to put on our first Amateur Film Festival. We should be proud of the initiative in our club members to accept the responsibility of such projects as the Safety Symposium in 1982 and now the National Paddling Film Festival. No other paddling club has attempted such a large scale event.

The film festival was held Oct. 21-22 at The Kentucky Horse Park. Despite the cold, rainy weather we had interest from throughout the country. We were disappointed by the lack of interest and participation by other area paddling clubs.

The event began with a reception and reception Friday night. The refreshments were provided by "Dad" as were the other great meals of the weekend, breakfast, lunch, and supper on Saturday.

The films started Saturday morning and continued throughout the day. There were two theaters. The schedule was arranged so all films could be viewed by the spectators. Three noncompetitive films were shown "River Down Under", The Drowning Machine, and Ocoee Outdoors.

After a delicious meal, we adjourned to the Horse Park Theater for showing of "Never Before, Never Again", a canoe expedition across Canada. Then in keeping with BWA tradition, the party began. The Bluegrass band, Stoney Creek, provided the music; Clear Creek Outfitters and Sage Outfitters provided the beer. Perception raffled a new Dancer kayak to benefit Save the Gauley. The party was highlighted by a spectacular appearance of our own "Women in Rubber". (Aren't you sorry you missed it?)

Sunday ended the memorable weekend with showings of the winners in each category and presentation of awards. A special thanks goes to Clear Creek Outfitters for securing the prizes. Below is a list of all the entrants. A * indicates the winner in that category. The overall winner was Lynda Matusek's "Kayaking in the Bluegrass". Lynda went home the proud owner of a new Phoenix fiberlatic Spitfire kayak.
